Inspiration

It's what motivates Palma students to excel. It's the inspiration that each student discovers when he looks beyond himself in service of others. It's the inspiration that comes from a faculty and staff who possess an unwavering dedication to each boy's success. And, it's the inspiration that comes from a community that doesn't just talk about supporting their school — but puts that support into action.

Your commitment inspires the faculty to earn the support given them, generating an atmosphere on campus that cultivates growth and success. The strength of your resolve inspires others to follow your lead, building a community of commitment.

Palma students have an advantage because of supporters like you. Please take this opportunity to provide some inspiration. It's a powerful gift to give a young man preparing to make his way in the world and beyond.

A message from the President

Brother Dunne

Great plans often start as little ideas that tend to gather steam and strength as they mature into fruition. Most of us have been witness over our lifetime to all sorts of plans; there is no doubt that I am not alone in witnessing some terrible numbskull ideas along the way and, I must admit, I've been closely involved in some of them over the many years. Not all, however, have been futile.

There have been moments of greatness over the years - despite my proximity to the main event - things have still turned out quite nicely, more often than not. I am especially proud of the fact that Palma is totally dedicated to getting young men ready for college and beyond; we do that on a regular basis and we do it well. This place we all know as "Palma" is not the same place it was sixty years ago; certainly, it is not the same place it was twenty, ten, or even five years ago. Growth and maturity continue to define and refine this place, this sacred ground, that we do indeed see as uniquely special and successful in preparing our young men for college and beyond.

Palma is about to embark on what many see as a new era in educational learning and the many requisite applications, up close and personal, that will only serve to better the art of teaching and, more importantly, enhance the science of learning at Palma. Becoming an "iPad" school, from top to bottom, has been a work in progress over several years as individual teachers, the various academic departments, and the administration have all prepared accordingly with appropriate fervor. Palma has made a number of proactive moves in recent years in getting and keeping both parents and students on the cutting edge of technology with nearly instant grades on line and up-to-the-moment views of progress being made, or not, in individual classes, all on one website. Palma's move to "iPadness" is more than window-dressing. Our faculty and staff have been keying-up for this transition in the right manner and mode. Teachers have identified ebooks that will be used; departments have established guidelines and applications that will be embraced, and plans are in place to support the teachers of a given department as well as the students. Students won't know what to do with their favorite backpack.

I was told, when growing-up, that good things, really special things, sometimes come in small packages. I am of the opinion that we are all about to witness, up close and personal, some terrific transformations taking place in and beyond the Palma classrooms. Those great plans dreamt of several years ago are about to be revealed, in all their glory, as mature results, all for the betterment of our young men in getting better prepared for college and beyond. While experiments are sometimes fun to watch from a distance, this is no experiment; this initiative, this transformation, will be fun to watch, up close and personal, as our young men continue to prepare for college and beyond like never before.

Br. Patrick J. Dunne

Growth and maturity continue to define and refine this place, this sacred ground, that we do indeed see as uniquely special and successful in preparing our young men for college and beyond.

We make conscious commitments to cultivate a community where all are to be welcomed, celebrated and affirmed with the awareness that we are investing in perhaps the most important endeavor of all: the education of young men in mind, body and soul.

A message from the Principal

David Sullivan

Palma has been making a lasting difference in our community since the fall of 1951. Our mission is to prepare young men for excellence in college and so much more. We challenge each young man to develop spiritually/morally, intellectually, physically, and socially. There is ample evidence of Palma's success among alumni who have moved on to making a tremendous impact in the world.

Palma provides a rigorous and highly competitive college preparatory atmosphere. We offer 21 honors classes, 13 Advanced Placement (AP) courses, and 5 foreign languages. We have courses in studio art, architectural design, film studies, and award-winning bands for junior high and high school, and a high school jazz ensemble. Palma athletics have earned some 129 league championships and 24 Central Coast Section (CCS) championships.

True to the spirit of the founder of the Christian Brothers, Blessed Edmund Rice, our students are highly committed in service to the poor and the marginalized. Last year, Palma Chieftains put more than 50,000 pounds of food into the hands of the hungry. They dedicated more than 1,000 hours of time tutoring and mentoring young students at the Center for Life in East Salinas. They provided hundreds of hours of companionship to the elderly. Last year's seniors donated over 7,000 hours of service in a variety of callings. We feed families during the holidays, we nurture terminally ill children in San Luis Obispo, we support the Get-on-the-Bus program for children whose parents are incarcerated, we give life by giving blood during our annual blood drives, and we minister to others in foreign countries. Last summer, a number of our students built two modest homes in Lima, Peru and a 3-bedroom home in Mexico, in addition to building several walls for a new school.

I am thrilled with preparations underway for the 2013/2014 school year. For the last three years, we have been exploring the transition to a 1:1 campus, a move from 20th Century learning to 21st Century education. Many universities have undergone massive transformations to the ways technology is used to archive information and perform research and effectively use technology. Every Palma student will have an iPad in the fall of 2013. We have determined the iPad to be the most multifunctional, versatile, and innovative tool for learning to suit our needs among students and teachers alike. Faculty and staff were already provided new iPads last summer, and we have already embarked on the many challenges ahead of us to explore its many uses and a vast array of digitally-deliverable texts and resources.

Palma is truly a special place. The Palma Family has been committed to ensuring a future influenced by faith-filled and educated leaders who are willing and capable of forging new paths for a better tomorrow. We make conscious commitments to cultivate a community where all are to be welcomed, celebrated and affirmed with the awareness that we are investing in perhaps the most important endeavor of all: the education of young men in mind, body and soul. We ALL play an important role in the mission of Palma. I thank you for your generosity, your prayers and our common passion for excellence in Palma education. Go Chieftains!

LIVES OF LOVE AND SERVICE

“Grant us the courage and compassion of Blessed Edmund Rice as we seek to live lives of love and service.” These are words taken from a prayer for our Palma School, Christian Brother Founder, Blessed Edmund Rice. These words continue to breathe life in our Chieftains in countless acts of love and service. Just before Christmas vacation, approximately 40 Palma students provided in food and gift collections and deliveries off campus. The first occurred in Gonzales where Chieftains gather monthly to deliver tons of rice and beans to area farm workers. During December, this giveaway is extra generous, for it parent vehicles packed with food departed for Pajaro where Chieftains joined with other helpers at the Case de La Cultura giveaway. Numerous bags of food and gifts were packaged and delivered to area residents, many of whom stood for hours in the rain to receive them. Rugged Chieftains could be seen, too, traveling in two’s and three’s with arms loaded and backs bent, carrying loads of goods to local homes. Countless souls were soaked but were not deterred by the weather. As ninth grader Liam McMillian ‘16 said, “I am so glad we came. This is where our classroom talks make a difference.”

includes presents for all the children living at the worker camps, and a special visit from Bishop Garcia from the Diocese of Monterey. The following day, the first day of Christmas vacation, a small team of Palma students gathered early in the morning at school. A fleet of vans and Principal David Sullivan once again donned his famous Santa Suit and stayed all day handing out gifts and entertaining hundreds of children. The “courage and compassion of Edmund” thrives in “love and service” in our school community and beyond.

“KNOW THAT YOU MATTER CLUB” GIVES BACK

Palma Sophomore and former CASA (Voices for Children - Court Appointed Special Advocate) foster child Ryan Moses '15 knows what it is like to grow up under difficult circumstances. At six he found out his parents were addicted to drugs and alcohol and a week after his seventh birthday his father was in jail and his mother had abandoned him. In and out of foster homes and back with his father before another stint in jail, Ryan almost gave up hope. By the end of sixth grade, he went from one foster home to another, until his CASA representative said, enough.

“After staying at the group home for a year the place was going to be shut down and I was going to be moved to yet another home,” says Ryan, “luckily my CASA sponsor caught wind of that and said this has to stop, he doesn’t deserve this anymore; he deserves a better life. So, she told my social worker that she would take me in and be my guardian. I knew that God was the one that did this. I would pray and pray that I could just go back home, but God had better plans for me. He wanted me to live a better life than what I had been living.”

Ryan, a successful sophomore at Palma School, decided to give back to the organization that gave him a new life, and with the help of his classmates raised over 500 teddy bears for donation to the kids that were just like him. Now they can be reminded that someone cares about them and that someone wants them to feel loved and supported.

“We are very proud of Ryan and the rest of the members of the ‘Know That You Matter Club’ here at Palma.” stated Brother Patrick Dunne, President, Palma School. “We have an obligation to be there for these children. That’s why we do what we do.”

PALMA FINISHES WCEA ACCREDITATION

The Mission of WCEA is to maintain and improve the quality of elementary and secondary Catholic schools as educational environments that assist students in their faith formation and academic needs.

WCEA Western Catholic Educational Association

A diocesan high school Commissioner assists in the preparation of a Self Study Document using an approved Protocol (Focus On Learning for Catholic High Schools). This Protocol is criteria-based and leads the school to examine specific aspects of school life and the extent to which the criteria are currently being met. The school community then prepares for a three-day visit by an accreditation team composed of educators who are trained evaluators from other schools with educational expertise.

During the visit, the team visits classrooms, investigates the written evidence of responses to the WCEA criteria, holds interviews with the members of the school community, and prepares a written report on its findings during the three-day visit. The Team also writes a recommendation of a Term of Accreditation based upon factors relative to the school community's successes and growth needs.

After the Visiting Team has completed its work, the Visiting Team Report and the Justification Statement are reviewed by a Team of WCEA Commissioners. The Team of WCEA Commissioners will affirm the recommended term or designate an alternate term of accreditation. Each school is then accredited at a full meeting of WCEA Commissioners. In California and Hawaii, WASC (Western Association of Schools & Colleges) then reviews the materials and co-accredits the school. In other western states each diocese works with its state accrediting agency according to applicable co-accreditation agreements.

The major purpose of this agency is to coordinate the accreditation process by assisting schools in their self-evaluative programs, to establish general standards for excellence, to grant WCEA Accreditation, and to cooperate formally with regional accrediting organizations as determined by the WCEA Board of Directors.

The mission of WCEA is to promote quality Catholic education for students in our member elementary and secondary schools through an accrediting process that assures the primacy of faith formation and educational excellence.

QUINTESSENCE

Each year Palma students and faculty produce a literary magazine. This opportunity was designed to provide an outlet for students and staff to publish literary, art or musical work they might wish to submit for consideration.

Students are given the opportunity to develop their creative-writing and computer-publishing skills. Students work after school, editing, printing, and publishing work that has been submitted by members of the Palma community.

The magazine is printed and distributed at the end of the school year.

The competition will take place on May 11, 2013.

MOVING 20TH CENTURY LEARNING TO 21ST CENTURY EDUCATION

by David Sullivan

For the last three years, we have been exploring the transition into a 1:1 campus, (one computer per student) a move from 20th Century learning to 21st Century education. Over the last 15 years many institutions of higher learning have undergone massive transformations to the ways technology is used to archive information and the many ways research is made ever more efficient and available through technology.

Technology innovations; from smart phones to laptops, and portable tablet devices like the Kindle, Nook, eReaders and now iPads, have quite literally transformed new possibilities for all of us. A number of other schools have already outfitted their students with individual laptops, tablets, iPads, and more.

Our three-year preparation has provided us opportunities to learn much from them. We have proceeded thoughtfully and intentionally on our mission “to provide young men an excellent college preparatory education” and we will graduate students who are well-prepared for a world where learning is made ever more powerful by the use of technology.

For Palma, tomorrow is here. Palma is ready.

Palma will provide every student with an iPad in the fall of 2013. We have determined the iPad to be the most multifunctional, versatile, and innovative tool for learning to suit our needs among students and teachers alike. We have worked diligently to integrate digital textbooks to provide cost savings measures to our students and families. And in order to keep students current, iPad technology will be updated periodically and as needed.

In the summer of 2012 our faculty and staff were provided with new iPads, and we have already embarked this school year on the many challenges ahead of us to explore its many uses and a vast array of digitally-deliverable texts and resources in preparation for ever better instruction with your sons, our students, next year.

JAY BURLISON SIGNS TO NO. 1 RANKED UC BERKELEY

Palma senior Jay Burlison signed a National Letter of Intent to play golf for number one ranked University of California Berkeley.

On a trip to Cal, Burlison spent time with Michael Weaver, one of four All-Americans on the Bears and the runner-up in the U.S. Amateur.

"I just really felt Cal offered the best combination of great academics with really great golf," said Burlison, who also visited Stanford, Princeton and Northwestern. "The players at Cal really seem to get better. I'm convinced this is the best place for me."

Burlison has been a three-time All-League pick at Palma, a past league MVP and has five Top 10 American Junior Golf Association finishes, all while also maintaining a 4.4 grade point average

CAMERON NEFF COMMITS TO SAINT MARY'S

Palma's Cameron Neff decided there was no need to wait any longer and he has made a verbal commitment to play college baseball at St. Mary's.

Neff made the decision in January of 2012 and held off announcing it until the Chieftains baseball season was over. He could not formally commit until November of his Junior year.

Neff posted a 7-3 record last spring for Palma, with two shutouts. He also finished among the team leaders in multiple hit games.

NOAH SAYS YES TO UCLA

Noah Allen, who was hitting 3-point shots and dunking in the same games at the varsity level as a freshman made a commitment to University California Los Angeles. The 6-foot-7 Allen was The Salinas Californian's basketball Player of the Year in Monterey County last season.

According to Allen, Washington State and Northwestern were also in the running until the Bruins flew him and his mom to Southern California. The UCLA scholarship is on a year-by-year basis, but Allen looks at it as more of a challenge than a risk.

Allen led the Tri-County Athletic League in scoring last year at 18 points per game and was second in scoring as a sophomore at 17.5 per game.

Allen was the T-CAL Freshman of the Year in 2010, the Sophomore of the Year in 2011 and league MVP last season.

JACK ROSS COMMITS TO PEPPERDINE

Palma outfielder 6-0 Jack Ross signed a National Letters of Intent to compete at Pepperdine in the 2014 season. A three-year varsity starter at Palma High School, Ross is a two-time Tri-County Athletic League and all-Monterey County first team selection after hitting better than .400 as a sophomore and junior for the Chieftains. Named to the 2012 CalHi Sports All-Underclass State Second Team, Ross competed for the USA Baseball NTIS Northern California Team last summer.

"I chose Pepperdine because of the great coaching staff, the beautiful location, its outstanding business program and its great baseball tradition." Jack Ross defense at 2M by Austin Greene '15 and Gabe Rianda '16 resulting in a stingy 5.44 goals against average. Michael Panetta '15 led the Chieftain counterattack and Nick Kimes '16 provided strong and agile shooting from center forward position scoring 27 and 29 goals respectively this season. Matthew D'Arrigo '16 and Bryce Robinson '16 played important roles on 6 on 5 and in the double post offense.

CROSS COUNTRY HIGHLIGHTS

Palma men worked hard this year under the leadership of second year coach and third year teacher at Palma, Stephen Valgos. Running in the Gabilan division of the Monterey Bay Athletic League challenged Palma runners who stepped up and continued to get personal bests all season. The team finished 6th of the seven schools in the Gabilan division of the MBL on the season, just ahead of Gilroy, and placed 10th of the 14 schools in the MBL to finish-off the season at the League meet.

The team was a leaner meaner team than last year, according to Coach Valgos. "We had fewer runners than last year, but I believe a more committed, disciplined, and hard working group overall." Dominic Zanger '13 lead the Chieftains as their captain and their fastest runner all year. "Dominic is a bull," said Valgos. "He works hard, runs like a beast, and is incredibly competitive. I couldn't have asked for a better leader." Dominic had a personal record at Toro this year running the three mile course in just 17:36 making him the only Palma runner to both break 18 minutes and advance to the CCS meet as an individual. Other runners stepped up as well. Senior Spencer Gamble '13 remained healthy and fast all year, and junior runner, JD deLorimier '14 found his competitive spirit and ran well to the end.

Coach Valgos said the team's success this year could be attributed to seniors who remained dedicated and steadfast to the end, and to the sophomores on the team who stepped up and filled varsity slots all year long. Michael Levine '15, Steven Camcam '15, and Jose Montez '15, all sophomores, did a great job and all look forward to coming back next year. "We had some very fast seniors who were successful last year and could have taken us into the CCS meet this year, but who had other priorities this season.

Valgos said there is always a silver lining, however. He had a good year with young men who wanted to come out and work hard, and has a great group of sophomores with varsity experience who will only get faster in years to come!

VOLLEYBALL HIGHLIGHTS

Junior High: 2 - 8

The 2012 Junior High Volleyball team played with spirit and a desire to improve. With only one returning player, the season's goal was to learn the game of volleyball. With a 2-8 record, the Chieftains may not have won many games, but their success can be measured not only in those 2 wins, but in the learning of volleyball skills, and teamwork.

The Chieftain volleyball team was led by a standout competitor and team MVP Jack Fling (8th). His "lead by example" attitude, as well as athletic skills, were a vital part of the year's success. Coaches Award winner, and first time player Jason Hoech (7th) was a natural in the backcourt as libero, foreshadows a bright future for the Chieftains. Most improved winner, Tyler Zenk (7th), embodied the spirit of perseverance to stick with and succeed in this very technical sport. With such a young group, the Chieftains are looking forward to a promising season next year under the leadership of setter Sam Koster (7th), libero Jason Hoech (7th), and hitters Cody Laycock (7th) and Tom Gugale (7th).

SOCCER HIGHLIGHTS

Junior High: 7 - 5

The Palma Junior High Soccer team finished with a record of 7-5 and earned a 2nd place finish in the MTJAL, after losing a tough game to North Monterey County in the finals. The season began with early losses to North Monterey County, San Benancio, and Carmel, but the team showed tremendous improvement by beating each of these teams at the end of the season. The team was especially proud of defeating North Monterey County 2-0, after losing to them 3-8 the first time.

Led by the speedy Daudi London (8th) and the crafty Finian Rawson (7th) on offense, the team managed to score 44 goals on the season, a tremendous total for so few games. Defensively, the team was anchored by captains Kyler Crone (8th) and Branden Werner (8th) whose aggressive play helped the team net four shutouts on the season. Coach Sterrett (2004) was extremely proud of the team and is excited for the excellent group of 7th graders who will be playing again next year.

VARSITY LACROSSE HAPPENING THIS SPRING

Palma School is proud to announce that a new lacrosse program has been introduced for the 2012-13 school year! Over the past few years, an increasing number of students and parents have expressed an interest in a lacrosse program at Palma. After a few meetings with the Palma Lacrosse Parents Group, Palma Athletic Director Steve Clayton was convinced that lacrosse would be a great addition to the Chieftain athletic program.

Under head coach Mario Enea, the Chieftains will be competing in a league with Carmel, Pacific Grove, Watsonville, York, and Stevenson. Coach Enea's passion for lacrosse started in the late 1980's while he attended Stevenson High School under legendary Coach Jeff Young. While playing lacrosse for the Bears of U.C. Berkeley, Mario was a team captain and a two-time All-star in 1994 and 1995. In his final year at Cal, Mario was named a Senior All-American and competed in the North-South All American game at Johns Hopkins University.

After playing professionally for the Charlotte Cobras, Mario retired from the game so that he could pursue a career in coaching. In 1998, Mario created the California Lacrosse Company and was also named the head coach for the lacrosse program at Santa Clara University. He then opened up a series of successful full-service Lacrosse Training & Retail Stores across California while also assuming the position of Director for Nike Lacrosse Camps.

In recent years, Mario has been the Head Lacrosse Coach at Santa Catalina since 2007. Enea also owns and operates Braveheart Lacrosse at 1157 Forest Ave. in Pacific Grove. Palma would like to welcome Coach Enea and thank him for the contribution of his time and talents to the Chieftain athletic program. We have full confidence that Coach Enea will be committed to shaping the character of young student-athletes through the exciting sport of lacrosse. Go Chieftains!

RED & GOLD DAYS

Red & Gold days developed out of the desire to push Palma School toward perpetual improvement in the realization of our mission, which boldly “challenges each individual to develop spiritually, intellectually, morally, physically and socially.” Our goal for Red & Gold days is to provide an educational environment that addresses whole human development. We want to continue the success that we have offered over the last six decades.

Red and Gold Days enable the faculty and administration at Palma School to rededicate themselves as mentors and role models to this mission with our use of extended class time, lunch time, activities time, and extracurricular time, to build relationships with our students. We continue to inspire our students’ passion for intellectual curiosity and ambitions for achievement in a college preparatory atmosphere where learning comes alive.

A Red Day (Wednesday)

is devoted to longer block periods and provides a 75 minute class instead of a 48 minute class.

A Gold Day (Thursday) begins at 9:15am with block periods 6 and 7, followed by a combination of:

Block A) lunch Block B) advisory/study hall Block C) activities (electives) that are selected by students during the first week of school in 2012.

Block C Activities: Students sign up for a five-week special interest activity facilitated by various members of faculty. Some course selections being offered include film, gaming, urban legends, searching for college scholarships, yoga (pictured), improv, sports writing (pictured) and intramural sports. After five Gold Day weeks, students will experience a new course with another instructor, for a total of three courses over the Spring 2012 Semester.

JACK FLING: BMX CHAMPION RIDES TO WIN

Since the age of 10, Jack Fling (8th) has been racing BMX bikes and earning a reputation among big name BMX icons. Sponsored by the factory Hyper BMX race team since 2011, Fling has won several national races, including the 2011 BMX National Championship and prestigious annual November BMX Grands.

When he is not racing, he loves to ride freestyle, improving his skills and experience at Woodward West riding camp, where he learned to do back flips on his bike. Fling gives himself time to reflect on his blessings with the privileges to enjoy BMX competitive riding. He ponders how he might use his skills and his dedication to the sport to set and achieve other goals in his life.

Physics teacher Mr. Stephen Mikell introduced a stock game for teams of students where each group gets $10,000 of play money. It is currently limited to the purchase of stocks. However in 2013 the teams will be introduced to shorting and options.

INDIANA PACER AND '07 PALMA ALUM

2007 Palma graduate Orlando Johnson first played collegiately at Loyola Marymount. As a freshman in the 2007–08 season, he led the Lions in both categories shooting and rebounds. Following a coaching change at LMU, Johnson transferred to UCSB.

After sitting out the 2008–09 season per NCAA transfer rules, Johnson made an instant impact in the Big West Conference for the Gauchos, averaging 18 points and 5.9 rebounds per game. Johnson also led the Gauchos to the 2010 Big West Conference Men's Basketball Tournament title and an NCAA appearance. Following the season, he was named the Big West conference player of the year and an honorable mention All-American by the Associated Press.

As a junior in 2010–11, Johnson averaged 21.1 points and 6.2 rebounds per game and was again named first team All-Big West. He also led the Gauchos to another conference tournament title and NCAA tournament appearance, again

"He's picked up habits very quickly. He's doing things that we coach others to do and he's learning from other people's mistakes. That may be one of the most impressive things from him."

-Frank Vogel, Head Coach, Indiana Pacers

earning Big West tournament MVP honors.

Following his junior season, Johnson declared himself eligible for the 2011 NBA Draft, but opted to return to UCSB for his senior season. Prior to the start of his senior season, Johnson was named to the preseason watch lists for the Wooden Award, Naismith Award, and the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award.

Following his junior season at UCSB, Johnson was chosen to represent the United States as a member of Team USA at the 2011 World University Games in Shenzhen, China. He played in all 8 matches of the tournament, averaging 7.3 points and 3.9 rebounds per game as the team finished 7-1.

Johnson was selected as the 36th overall pick in the 2012 NBA Draft and currently plays for the Indiana Pacers. With the Pacers, he recently provided 14 points in 36 minutes.

Bonano was named the Pac-12 Conference Special Teams Player of the Week for UCLA game where he accounted for 12 points on two field goals and six extra-point kicks in the 48-12 victory over UCLA before a national audience on ESPN. It was Bonano's first start as the team's place kicker. He was also named the National Kickoff Specialist of the Week by College Football Performance Awards in the season opener against Northern Arizona, plus five weekly honorable mentions.

Matt Huntington '08: My professors and courses at USC drove into me a particular interest in the world of entrepreneurship, naturally leading me to the tech hub and entrepreneurial capital of the country - the Bay Area. I am currently working in sales and marketing at a start-up company called AllTrails - a group of incredibly talented teammates, and of which our goal is to become the go-to digital and mobile information source for all things outdoor recreation. As an avid runner, I do feel more than fortunate to work in an environment that combines a passion of mine with the invaluable experience the tech industry holds. And of course, it has been an enjoyable little bonus to be back up closer to my homeland, my beloved SF Giants, and my family.

Matt Huntington '08

Joe Bremser '08: After four amazing years, I finished up my undergraduate career at Loyola Marymount University with a Bachelor's Degree in History. Although I walked in my graduation ceremony on May 5, 2012. I still had two more classes to finish up my bachelor's. As part of my graduation gift from friends and family, I was able to take two summer classes at the Loyola Chicago John Felice Rome Center up on Monte Mario above Vatican City! However, my European journey did not start in Rome, as I landed in Madrid two weeks before the start of classes. I was able to use the little bit of Spanish I procured in Senor Gomez's class. As he always used to say, I kept most of my Spanish conversations "short, simple, and to the point." After seeing Madrid, Segovia, Sevilla, y Barcelona, I was off to Roma for a month of fun and a little bit of studies. During this time, I began experimenting with new cameras and photography, and I came away with over 6000 photos! (One or two of them actually usable) Rome was my home away from home; during my time in Italy, I was able to see Napoli, Orvieto, Herculaneum, Firenze, Venezia, and Milano. I was even able to make it over to Athens to see all the Roman and Greek ruins that we learned about in my Latin classes at Palma.

After Rome, I backpacked around Europe to places like Munich, France, Amsterdam, Berlin, and even to my family castle Brömserburg (the oldest castle on the Rhine) in the town of Rudesheim am Rhine. My journey finished in Dublin, Ireland where I took a couple days to unwind and soak in the local flavor and Guinness beer! It was the best two months of my life to sum up the best four years at Loyola Marymount University. Now, I am back in Los Angeles, tending to the daily grind, but

Joe Bremser '08 with his traveling buddies

I will always have the Tiber River flowing through my heart and mind. As ever, I will look back to my wonderful time in Roma and look forward to the time when I will have the opportunity to return to the Eternal City of Seven Hills!

LEGACY STUDENTS

One of the most fundamental elements of the foundation of Palma School is our tradition of excellence. This tradition creates a passion for Palma that our alumni carry for decades after they have left Palma's campus. Their passion is evident in the choice many alumni make to send their sons to be educated at Palma. The continuity and tradition of excellence that extends from generation to generation is truly remarkable. It is a lasting legacy.
