A publication for alumni, family and friends of Palma School

What is the Palma Advantage?

Inspiration

It's what motivates Palma students to excel. It's the inspiration that each student discovers when he looks beyond himself in service of others. It's the inspiration that comes from a faculty and staff who possess an unwavering dedication to each boy's success. And, it's the inspiration that comes from a community that doesn't just talk about supporting their school — but puts that support into action.

Every time you attend a school event, cheer on the Chieftains, or make a donation, you inspire a new generation at Palma. Your participation demonstrates confidence in Palma boys that, in turn, instills the self-confidence that inspires them to take on greater challenges and push their own limits to new measures of achievement.

Your commitment inspires the faculty to earn the support given them, generating an atmosphere on campus that cultivates growth and success. The strength of your resolve inspires others to follow your lead, building a community of commitment.

Who is it that believes Palma students have an advantage? We do —because of supporters like you. Please take this opportunity to provide some inspiration. It's a powerful gift to give a young man preparing to make his way in the world and beyond.

A message from the President

Brother Dunne

The official end of another school year is not that far away as the varied year-ending aspects that bring a given school year to closure are coming upon us. For some, it can't come soon enough. For others, it is coming all too quickly. Either way, the double-digit days will certainly give way to single-digit days and then it will be over. Never again will we have this same cast of characters that make-up our current enrollment together in one place. And it has been a terrific year in many, many ways.

I sometimes hear graduates of many years ago lamenting about how "tough" it was at Palma in those "good 'ld days" going back several decades or more. It is almost as if they might suggest that today's students are missing-out on how things were a long, long time ago on this campus and on other campuses throughout the entire country. And they are right! There is no doubt about it — today's Palma is not your grandfather's Palma and that is certainly good as far as I am concerned. I can't imagine teaching, or learning for that matter, in an environment that wasn't promoting student growth and responsibility in a positive manner as we see it today. I can't imagine not wanting to come to school, as a teacher or student, to actually enjoy the challenges of learning and improving.

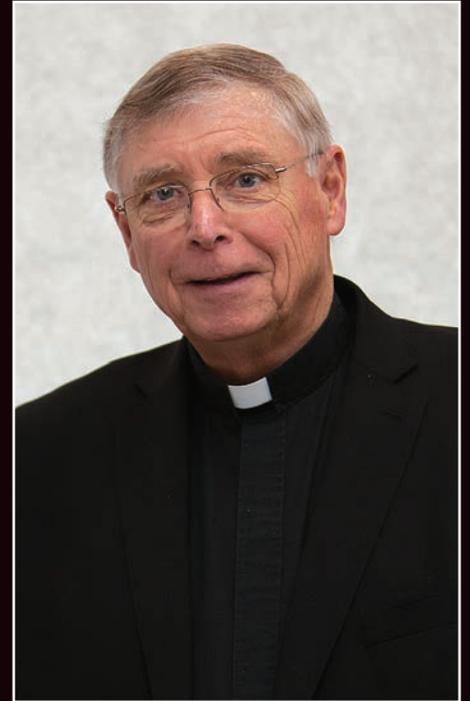

We have a very special place here at Palma as we have some of the brightest and nicest students around. This is the place where no one will make fun of you for wanting to succeed. Our faculty and staff are known to go the extra mile in helping students learn in a wide variety of manners. Our students today and next year, obviously, are not the students of yesteryear. I look at the class offerings in the course catalog for the 2012/2013 school year and there are some truly impressive offerings — five foreign languages (Chinese, Italian, Korean, Latin, and Spanish), twenty-one honors classes, thirteen AP courses, and a wide array of visual and performing arts offerings. I don't want to give the impression that every one of our students will graduate with the highest honors and be sought after by the very best colleges and universities in the country. We continue with a proven program that is over 60 years in the making, the program being one of preparing young men for college and beyond. A program of taking a young man and helping form him into an educated and well-rounded individual, well prepared for the next level — and beyond. That "beyond" is always in our plans as that is where all of our students, eventually, will be for the rest of their lives after their formal education of high school and college is completed.

I know many parents have struggled financially to send their son to Palma. Their commitment to prepare for the next level is remarkable. Parents who purposely sacrifice for their son's advancement and education have the right plan in place for success. I know it is also more than dollars that are involved in the Palma education. It is a special buy-in involving time as one gives their favorite adolescent male the advantage of a lifetime.

As we prepare to graduate Palma's Class of 2012, let's take a moment to not only congratulate the members of this exceptional class, let's take a moment to say a loud and sincere "Well done" to their parents who have made it all possible. Let's also take a moment to congratulate our faculty and staff for working so well with our students on a regular basis. They are truly what make this great place we all know as "Palma" continue to flourish year after year, class after class. Thank you — well done!

A message from the Principal

David Sullivan

Since the Fall of 1951, Palma has been making a lasting difference in the lives of students and families throughout the Salinas Valley and beyond. The mission of Palma continues to be to prepare young men for excellence in college and so much more. Palma's legacy is one that challenges each young man to develop spiritually/morally, intellectually, physically, and socially. There is ample evidence of Palma's success with this among numerous Palma alumni who have moved on to make a tremendous impact in our community and so many others elsewhere. We celebrate Palma's legacy of excellence in education for over six decades!

Academically, Palma continues to provide a rigorous and highly competitive college preparatory atmosphere. Palma now offers 21 honors classes, 13 Advanced Placement (AP) courses, and 5 foreign languages. The Fine Arts Department offers courses in studio art, architectural design, film studies and award-winning bands for junior high and high school, along with a high school jazz ensemble. It is estimated that the Senior Class 2011 donated over 7,100 hours of service to the counties of Monterey, San Benito & Santa Cruz. Palma athletics has earned some 123 league championships and 22 Central Coast Section (CCS) championships.

In November 2011, Palma School successfully completed an evaluation on The Essential Elements of an Edmund Rice Christian

Brother Education. The evaluation ensures our school's ongoing commitment to and development of the mission of the school through a process of reflection and self-study. The evaluation culminates in a site visit by a team of professionals in education. This visiting team spent nearly a week with us to observe and to interview various members of the Palma community, and they delivered a glowing report in praise of our school. One member of the team commented, "You have a wonderful faculty, staff, coaches, administration, board of directors, parents, and...students! I was very impressed by your school's spirituality, outreach, academics, athletics and overall sense of unity. It is my intention to share my experience with everyone... Thank you for being such a good example of what a Christian Brother School should be! Blessings...Palma Merenti!"

Legacy Students

One of the most fundamental elements of the foundation of Palma School is our tradition of excellence. This tradition creates a passion for Palma that our alumni carry for decades after they have left the classroom. Their passion is evident in the choice many alumni make to send their sons to be educated at Palma. The continuity and tradition of excellence that extends from generation to generation is truly remarkable. It is a lasting legacy.

EXCELLENCE IN CLASSROOM

Science Fair

Friday, February 10, marked the culmination of the 5th Annual Palma School Science Fair. Sophomores from Mr. John Chipley's chemistry classes presented the findings of their respective experiments on topics ranging from "Do Seedlings Give Off Heat?" to "How Video Games Affect Your Heart Rate." In the months prior to the competition, students conducted independent research on project topics they choose. Throughout the process, Palma AP Chemistry students acted as mentors to other students during the research, hypothesis, data analysis, and presentation stages of the project. The assignment was designed to be both educational and enjoyable, and from some of the creative topics students chose, it appears that they enjoyed the project.

One project was extraordinarily unusual. Terry Lee's experiment, entitled "Gauss Rifle," examined how various amounts of magnets affect the trajectory speed of metal objects. His experiments conclusively demonstrated that the more magnets a Gauss Rifle possesses, the faster the metal objects are expelled from the final magnet. In fact, his experiment showed that the trajectory speed would theoretically increase infinitely, until the magnets themselves broke due to the force of the metal objects.

Mr. Chipley designed the projects to focus on critical thinking and reasoning skills needed to collect, analyze, and communicate empirical data effectively. The months of experimentation and preparation taught the students organization, discipline, and determination. Mr. Chipley encouraged his students to adopt the primary trait of his chemistry

"mascot," the honey badger. "The honey badger," Mr. Chipley explained, "is tenacious, relentless, and determined to achieve its goal. In a similar manner, I teach my students to be tenacious in their pursuit of excellence. My goal is to prepare each student for success at the college level and beyond."

Moreover, the same critical thinking and reasoning skills needed to collect, analyze, and communicate data effectively are the same skills used in all areas of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics. "What each student learned during this project," Mr. Chipley said, "are crucial skills applicable to the core areas of science and mathematics at all levels of learning."

Palma would like to thank the efforts of Mr. John Chipley for coordinating the Science Fair and all the work he did preparing the scientific minds of tomorrow. Palma would also like to congratulate the chemistry students for their excellent projects. They make all those within the Palma community proud to wear the Red and Gold! Go Chieftains!

Tomorrow's High-Tech Scientists

Have you ever been watching an episode of CSI or Law and Order when one of the detectives discovers DNA at a crime scene and requests a DNA test? Do you have any idea how to match someone's DNA to a hair sample at a crime scene? To get an answer to this question, you could simply ask a student in one of Palma's AP Biology classes.

One of the numerous labs the students conduct each year is an Electrophoresis Lab, in which each student learns how to distinguish and match DNA samples. During this lab, students cut bacterial DNA with restriction enzymes and run the DNA across an electrophoresis gel in order to create a DNA imprint. These DNA imprints, created in Palma's electrophoresis chambers, are then uploaded into Palma's special network interface software. From there, the DNA imprint can be downloaded to individual computers to create unique graphs and data relevant to each student's specific DNA sample.

You may be asking yourself, "What does all this mean?" All of that might sound pretty confusing to us, but it comes pretty easily to our AP Biology seniors. Jacob Ongaro '13 and Devin Beatie '13 were among the students who explained this complex process as if it were as simple as riding a bike.

Mr. Tony Ryan, the head of the Science Department for the past 12 years and a teacher here at Palma for a total of 31 years, explains that the recent technology updates to the Science Department have made these labs possible. Along with the electrophoresis chambers and the special network interface software, Palma has introduced state-of-the-art Vernier Technology, three new micro-centrifuges, titration chambers, and highly accurate electronic balances.

The technology used in the Science Department here at Palma is the same technology used in colleges across the state of California, allowing Palma's AP science classes to prepare students for excellence in college and beyond. Palma would like to thank Mr. Ryan, Mr. Chipley, and Mr. Henry for their efforts in educating the scientific minds of the young men here at Palma.

Carnazzo Helps Students Tackle History

When most people in Monterey County think about Palma Varsity Football Coach Jeff Carnazzo '85, they primarily associate him with the on-field achievements his teams have had over the past decade. His 115 wins since the 2000-2001 season are astounding, but there might be a more impressive achievement that few have noticed.

Mr. Carnazzo

Prior to suiting up for afternoon football practices, Coach Carnazzo is the AP United States History teacher at Palma School. He uses the same intensity and discipline that inspires his players to prepare the young men of Palma for the AP U.S. History Test. This exam is administered in early May of each school year to determine whether the students have achieved a college-level comprehension of the subject. Those with a score of three or better (the test is out of five) receive a passing score as well as college credit transferrable to most universities.

The test is a grueling three hours and fifteen minutes long, meant to test both factual knowledge of United States history as well as writing ability. Of the 400,000 students who take this test annually, nearly half of them do not pass. According to College Board, in 2011 the pass rate was a mere 52.8%. Despite these statistics, Coach Carnazzo's pass rate is consistently between 85% and 95% each and every year!

How is this level of success possible? "The success of these students," answers Mr. Carnazzo, "lies in the extraordinary work ethic and dedication each student is required to give in my class."

Beginning in January, five months before the AP exam is scheduled to take place, students from his AP U.S. History classes are required to arrive at the Palma Cislini Library at 5:45 am on Fridays, more than two hours before the first school bell rings to start the day. During this time of preparation, the students take previous AP U.S. History tests to prepare for the exam at the end of the year. When the students take the actual exam in May, they have already completed nearly ten exams from previous years.

“By the time they take the actual AP test,” adds Mr. Carnazzo, “their ability to write effectively and proficiently is like second nature to them. A lot of that ability comes from the amazing job our English Department does in preparing them to write at the college level.”

It seems apparent that the same discipline Coach Carnazzo uses to lead the Chieftains to victory on the gridiron is used to lead his students to victory within the classroom. When asked what his first priority is between the two, Mr. Carnazzo didn’t hesitate in responding, “The classroom always comes first in my mind. These young men are students first and athletes second.” His actions as an educator at Palma for almost two decades stand as a testament to that belief.

Creativity and Culture in the Classroom

Story by Nick Ottone, Palma Class of 2016

When a student at Palma has to choose a foreign language class, he has a lot of options. He could choose Spanish, a popular choice, or Latin, which could improve his SAT score. He could take Italian, where he could eat pasta and pizza, or even take Korean next year. Although they are all very good choices, the most interesting language class of them all is definitely Chinese.

A diverse and culturally rich language, Mandarin Chinese is taught by Mrs. Sun at Palma at two levels, Chinese 1 and Chinese 2 Honors. Every student learns the four fundamentals of foreign language: reading, writing, listening, and speaking. The students learn these skills through a variety of activities ranging from reading Mandarin dialogues to acting out a restaurant scene. While these activities are fun, the class really starts to heat up when the Chinese culture is brought in.

Chinese culture is colorful and diverse, and this is reflected in the activities students take part in during class. For example, in order to learn how to handle chopsticks and identify colors, both classes were given chopsticks, a bowl full of M&M’s, and another empty bowl. Mrs. Sun then instructed the students to practice using their chopsticks by transporting M&M’s from one bowl to the other. After a few minutes of practice, the competition began. For 30 minutes, students raced each other to put all the M&M’s from one bowl to the other to win the coveted metal chopsticks. At the end of the day, two students, one from each class, walked away with metal chopsticks. The rest walked away with M&M’s to enjoy!

The most fun activity that the Chinese classes participated in this year was the Chinese New Year party. During the double period on January 25th, both Chinese classes assembled in the cafeteria to celebrate the Chinese New Year. Before the food was set out, the animals from the zodiac were discussed and described, especially the dragon, whose year is 2012. After that, a book was read about Chinese New Year traditions, and the stereo was turned on. Chinese music filled the air while the students spoke Chinese in order to eat the banquet set before them. A variety of Chinese foods were available, and this attracted several of the Palma teachers. Everyone there enjoyed the festive day.

The Palma Mandarin Chinese class is by no means a traditional language class. Culture is interspersed almost equally with the language instruction. No matter what is happening, the students are always learning something new, whether it’s about the colors or how to say “Hello!” Mrs. Sun has really brought creativity to the classroom, making Mandarin Chinese one of the most enjoyable classes on campus! ●

ACTIVITIES

Man of Many Talents — Andy Steitz '12

Many incoming students question how they can make the most out of their time here at Palma School. What is the right balance between academics and extra-curricular activities? What sports should they play? What clubs should they join? One student who has been at Palma for the past six years had many similar questions when he began his journey in 7th grade.

"I knew I wanted to be involved with things at Palma as soon as I graduated from middle school and entered into my freshman year," said ASB President Andy Steitz. "I am so glad I made the decisions that I did, because my extra-curricular activities have really made my time at Palma exceptional." Andy's resume of activities is so extensive, it would be difficult for a small village of people to accomplish what he has accomplished during his time here at Palma School.

During his freshman year, Andy played football and baseball, was a part of the Model United Nations Club, and was also the President of the Interact Club. This was all on top of a large scholastic course load, but Andy was just getting started.

In his sophomore year at Palma, Andy played Junior Varsity football and baseball, was a part of the Model UN Club, was the President of the Interact Club, formed the Investor's Club, and was also the sophomore class Vice President. All of these activities were still balanced alongside a tough academic schedule, yet Andy continued to flourish.

Most people in his position might be content with their level of commitment, but not Andy. During his junior year, he once again raised the stakes. Rather than playing football and baseball, he decided he would try varsity water polo and varsity volleyball. "I wanted a new challenge," said Andy. "I thought of it as an adventure, a new obstacle to overcome." With the time commitment needed to master a new sport, most people would need to reduce the amount of time they spent in other extra-curricular activities. If it has not become apparent yet, it turns out that Andy is not like "most people."

Not only did Andy continue his commitment to the Model UN Club, the

Andy Steitz reads to a child at DeGroot

Interact Club, and the Investor's Club, he decided to pledge more of his time to Palma. In the Associated Student Body (ASB), Andy was the junior class president. He also took up a leadership role in CORE, a group of upperclassmen who helped incoming students learn more about the Palma tradition. If that was not enough, Andy also joined the Action Leadership Team. This group of juniors and seniors worked closely with Campus Ministry, advocating for the poor in our local area. Andy has worked with Ag Against Hunger, Palma's numerous food drives, and the weekly student tutoring at the Center for Life in East Salinas.

Andy will be finishing his Palma career with the same enthusiasm he has demonstrated in his first five years as a Chieftain. He has maintained all of the commitments he held his junior year and has taken on the role of ASB President. When asked about his time here at Palma, Andy responded, "My time here has been amazing. The teachers, the coaches, and all those who are a part of the Palma community have collectively made my time here very special. I want to thank them for teaching me what it means to be a well-rounded man of character."

Mock Trial Place an Impressive Fourth

Did wealthy political scion Ryan Buschell murder his classmate Becca Abeles to keep her from turning him in for cheating and prevent the loss of his $20 million inheritance? That was the issue at the heart of People v. Buschell, the case presented by 17 Palma students who participated in the annual Monterey County Mock Trial, sponsored by the Lyceum of Monterey County and the Law Office of Michael J. Whilden. Besides Palma, this year's participating high schools were Alisal, Carmel, Everett Alvarez, Monterey, Pacific Grove, and Salinas.

Under the guidance of Mr. Robert Viarengo and attorney coaches, students on the Mock Trial team used critical thinking and interpersonal skills to prepare and argue both sides of the case. Throughout the competition, students argued before real judges and attorneys, switching between defense and prosecution roles each round. The five-round competition, from January 26th until February 4th, concluded four months of preparation by Palma's team of dedicated students: Nick Babaian '13, Dylan Essert '13, Ben Delbick '14, Andrew Falkenberg '14, Aengus Fanoë '13, Max Fiege '14, Freddie Frumkin '13, Andrew Karaman '13, Cody Martinez '15, Mike Panetta '15, Fernando Quiroz '12, Cole Rianda '14, Jake Robinson '13, Andrew Schlegel '13, Blaine Sutliff '14, Brayden Tollefson '13, Austin Wahl '13, and Charles Yan '12. Congratulations to each of these young men for an exceptional fourth place finish this year at the Monterey County Mock Trial competition.

When asked about the lessons the students learned from Mock Trial, Mr. Viarengo explained, "The creativity and critical thinking skills necessary to prepare for this year's Mock Trial case were tremendous. The students really learned how gray our legal system can be at times. People vs. Buschell was designed to be complex and somewhat ambiguous, allowing students enough information to argue both sides of the case. The style of argument the students used was critical to the decision the judges made. More often than not, the judges had different verdicts for different teams depending on how well they structured their arguments."

Senior Charles Yan, who played the defendant in the trial, described his experience: "This is my fourth year participating in Mock Trial. It has been so much fun and I have made a lot of great friends. As a witness,

Palma's Mock Trial team

I had to try to become someone else while I was on the witness stand. I had to know the case as if it were real, as if I were truly the person who had witnessed the events surrounding the murder. When I started Mock Trial four years ago, I was really shy and quiet. One great thing I have learned is how to open up, speak with confidence, and be myself." Senior Fernando Quiroz, who won an award for Outstanding Prosecution Attorney, had similar nostalgic feelings about his four years on Mock Trial. "Mock Trial has taught me so many things over the past four years. It has taught me how to think on my feet, how to speak clearly and effectively in a public setting, and has also been a lot of fun."

Along with Fernando Quiroz's award for Outstanding Prosecuting Attorney, junior Andrew Karaman won an award for Outstanding Bailiff, and senior Dylan Essert won the Courtroom Artist Competition. Dylan went to the state competition in March.

Palma would like to thank the attorney coaches who committed their time to training the students: Kelly McCarthy-Sutherland, Matt Ottone, and John Bailey. Palma would also like to thank the Mock Trial coach, Mr. Robert Viarengo, for his dedication to the young men of the Palma Mock Trial team. Most importantly, Palma would like to recognize the students for another amazing year of Mock Trial! Their hard work and commitment to excellence reflect the values we all adhere to at Palma School.

Palma Band at Lincoln Review

The award-winning Palma music program continues to impress audiences and judges alike. Our students were once again selected to participate in regional honor performing groups and the band continues to entertain audiences on and off campus.

This year, Palma's Symphonic Band and Jazz Ensemble traveled to Stockton on Saturday, November 19, for the 35th Annual Lincoln Band Review of Champions. Dozens of bands compete at this festival and students are adjudicated on their musicianship, tone, technique, performance accuracy, and stage presence. This year, the Palma Symphonic Band took 2nd Place out of four bands in the Class D Concert Competition. Our Jazz Ensemble did not place, but students put on a great performance featuring saxophone soloists J.D. DeLorimier '14 and Luis Martinez '13.

The program is pleased to recognize individuals who had the opportunity to represent Palma as members of our local honor ensembles. Gabriel Rianda '16 and Nicholas Ottone '16 were selected for the

Palma Band

Central Coast Section Middle School Honor Band. Rick Keaton '15 was selected for the Central Coast Section High School Honor Orchestra. Daniel Machado '12 was selected as the drummer for the Monterey County High School All-Star Band, an ensemble hosted by the Monterey Jazz Festival. Congratulations to these student musicians!

The Palma Band Boosters would like to thank everyone who has been involved in raising money for the music program. The program has been able to acquire new instruments and equipment for students, provide transportation and entry fees for performance events, and purchase a new sound system. Community attendance at our Pancake Breakfast, Spaghetti Dinner, Christmas Concert, and Spring Concert have all been tremendous this past year, and we look forward to your continued support of the Palma Music program.

Boxing Club

The Palma Boxing Club works out every Gold Day Schedule. Instructed by Campus Minister Jim Micheletti (aka, "Old One Punch"), 20 Chieftains learn the basics of footwork and hand positions, strikes, and combinations. The Boxing Club would like to thank Mrs. Dina Eastwood, wife of Mr. Clint Eastwood, who donated all of the equipment. Every workout is a ministry of muscle ending in prayer and announcements about current service opportunities. Many of these "pious pugilists" are faithfully present at Mass and fight the good fight for charity and justice in the community.

Boxing Club meets most Thursdays in the morning for a fun workout and some fellowship.

Gamer Club

In the works for more than a year, Palma was pleased to introduce the newest activity for Chieftain students, the Gamer Club. Founded and led by current President, Samuel Lum '13, this extra-curricular option allows students to enter the virtual world of video games with their friends on campus! Between 15 and 20 students meet every few weeks in order to test their skills against Palma's elite gamers.

Each meeting, four different gaming consoles are hooked into four televisions, and the madness begins! Xbox 360, PlayStation 3, and Wii consoles are the most predominant, and the games vary from week to week. Samuel Lum adds, "We are really happy to finally have a Gamer Club on campus. It is a fun time for one to hang out with friends and play multi-player games."

When asked what the most popular game was, Samuel responded, "Super Smash Brothers Brawl is a popular one. Gamers get pretty competitive, but it always remains light-hearted fun." All Palma students are welcome to join the Gamer Club. The only requirements are a spirit of youth and a love of video games! ●

CAMPUS MINISTRY

AT PALMA

DeGroot Home

On Friday, February 3rd, Campus Minister Jim Micheletti and the Palma Action Leadership Team went on retreat to San Luis Obispo. Palma Action Leaders Evan Schivo '12, Tim Carroll '12, Andy Steitz '12, Henry Mirassou '13, Daniel Machado '12, and Matthias Lopez '13 started the day with Mass in the Blessed Edmund Rice Chapel. Then the group went to the DeGroot Home for medically fragile children in San Luis Obispo.

Action Leaders read aloud, played music, and simply enjoyed standing in solidarity with these children, many of whom were abandoned by their parents and suffer from severe brain injuries because of parental drug use and/or other abuse. After serving at the DeGroot Home, Action Leadership spent time in prayer and reflection at the Mission of San Luis Obispo.

The whole day proved to be a mission of faith building and witnessing to our shared Catholic identity. The images of Palma students providing a healing touch carry the weight of emotions that filled the trip to the DeGroot Home.

Palma would like to thank those at the DeGroot Home who made this trip possible, as well as the Palma Action Leaders for serving the children of the DeGroot Home with compassion. They have made the entire Palma community very proud. Our thoughts and prayers go out to the children of the DeGroot Home, and the courageous staff who reflect Christ's love in their service to them.

Evan Schivo

Evan Schivo '12 and the Action Leadership Team

Over the past few years, Palma has been directly influenced by the efforts of the Action Leadership Team. This select group of upper classmen works to transform Palma through their leadership and their commitment to Campus Ministry. Evan Schivo, a senior at Palma, has been a core member of the Action Leadership Team and Palma's Campus Ministry. Over the past two years Evan has worked hand-in-hand with Palma's Campus Minister Jim Micheletti in order to serve those less fortunate in the Salinas Valley. "My commitment to Campus Ministry," Evan explained, "really began two years ago when the Action Leadership team flew to Florida for a four-day convention with Br. Edmund Rice Schools from across the Western Hemisphere. There were schools from South America, Canada, and throughout the United States, all there to learn about how to reach the poor in our local areas. The biggest thing we learned from this convention was the difference between temporarily helping the poor and advocating for the poor by addressing the source of their problems."

Upon their return from Florida, Evan Schivo, ASB President Andy Steitz '12, and Mr. Micheletti put their heads together to implement all that they had learned from their trip. "Mr. Micheletti showed us that a lot of poverty stems from a lack of education, so we decided to start our ministry with the Center For Life in East Salinas." For the past two years, Evan and his classmates have tutored children from gang stressed areas at the Center For Life every Tuesday. "We wanted to really focus in on the source of gang violence," Evan continued, "which we felt was spurred by the lack of education in the impoverished areas of Salinas."

Alongside his commitment to the Center For Life, Evan has helped glean the fields of Salinas for food for the poor, served at Dorothy's Kitchen, run a weekly Bingo game for the retired ladies of Madonna Manor, and provide Christmas presents for the poor children of our area every December.

More recently, Evan was a part of an Action Leadership Team visit to the DeGroot Home in San Luis Obispo, a place for children with severe mental and physical handicaps. The experience with the kids there had a profound impact on Evan and the other Palma students who attended. "Most of the children," Evan recalled, "had severe brain damage and were unable to speak, walk, or even breathe on their own. We read to them and I played my guitar. We really just wanted to try and make them smile. Those kids really showed me how many blessings I have in my life. It was a terrific experience."

Evan Schivo is a great example of a man of character, the type of person Palma School challenges young boys to become. Beyond shaping the minds of the boys here at Palma, the dedicated faculty and staff aim to shape the whole person, preparing our students for college and beyond. Evan's scholastic and extra-curricular accomplishments have earned him acceptance into Fresno State University, where he plans to be a Bulldog in the Fall of 2012. Thank you, Evan, for representing our school so well! ●

Steve Clayton Honored With 2011 CCS Distinguished Service Award

Mr. Steve Clayton, Palma Athletic Director, was selected as a recipient of the 2011 Central Coast Section Distinguished Service Award, which is intended to honor those individuals who have made outstanding contributions to the Central Coast Section and the California Interscholastic Federation over a period of years. This award is reserved for outstanding individuals who have made personal and professional sacrifices in order to promote, develop, and positively influence interscholastic athletics.

Marcel Brinson Signs with Minot State

Palma School is proud to announce that Marcel Brinson '12 has signed a letter of intent to play football at Minot State in North Dakota. Marcel's outstanding on-field performance, excellent academic record, and remarkable character all contributed to Minot State's proposed scholarship.

Marcel was a cornerstone of Palma's CCS Division IV Championship Football team this season. As a wide receiver and defensive back, Marcel was voted the team's Most Valuable Player along with running back Jack Myers. Marcel's unique abilities were showcased on the defensive side of the ball, where he proved to be a shutdown corner and a hard-hitting safety. One of Marcel's greatest assets as a safety was his intelligence and decision-making ability. He was able to make game saving tackles in space, accurately anticipate wide receivers' routes, and deliver bone-jarring hits.

Beyond his on-field ability, Marcel is a young man of remarkable character. His unparalleled work-ethic and commitment to his teammates made him a leader for the CCS Champion Chieftains.

When asked about his son's accomplishments, Marlowe Brinson replied, "We could not be more proud of our son. As proud as we are of his on-field accomplishments, we care more about the humility and dedication that he has demonstrated to get to this point of success. We have raised him to place his faith in God as the highest priority in his life, followed by his commitment to his family. When you place your faith in God and stay true to your family, the rest of life will fall into place. He has made great decisions to put himself in a situation for success. He has worked so hard, not only in his training for football, but also in his dedication to academics. We would like to thank Palma and Coach Jeff Carnazzo for creating an environment where success was possible for our son."

With a big smile, Marcel warmly added, "It is an overwhelming feeling. I am so thankful to have my family here. All of the hard work that it has taken to get to this point was worth it. I am excited to go on to college and compete at the next level. It is going to be a challenge, but I am looking forward to it!"

Palma would like to congratulate Marcel and wish him the best of luck at Minot State next year. The character and determination that has defined his time here at Palma will surely lead him to success wherever life takes him. Good luck Marcel, and Go Chieftains!

Jack Myers Signs with McKendree

Palma running back Jack Myers '12 signed a scholarship to play football at McKendree University in Illinois. His signing followed a phenomenal season in which he led the Chieftains to a Division IV Championship with one of the most impressive post-season performances on record.

Myers played his best in Palma's biggest games. In the playoffs, Myers accumulated nearly 600 yards and 10 TDs in the Chieftains' three post-season games. In Palma's Division IV championship game against Carmel, Myers ran for 231 yards on 31 carries and scored three touchdowns. Myers was also named the Tri-County Athletic League's Most Valuable Offensive Player this past season, churning out 1,017 yards and 15 touchdowns in the regular season.

Paul Apilado, the center and anchor of Palma's offensive line, said, "Blocking for Jack is great. He is a humble guy who works hard. He makes us look really good out there."

Friend and teammate, Marcel Brinson, added, "He is our brother. He's been there for us on and off the field. He deserves all of the success he has achieved."

Jack could arguably have been one of the most productive running backs in Palma history, placing him in a category of excellence with some elite players. "He deserves to be up there with the all-time great

running backs to come through Palma," said Coach Carnazzo. "We could not be more proud of what he has accomplished here and we would like to extend our sincerest congratulations to Jack Myers for a tremendous career at Palma." ●

Sims '12 (All-League), and Cameron Neff '13 (All-League 2nd team), played an outstanding game as well.

Junior Varsity

For the first time since 2001, the Palma Junior Varsity Football team finished the season undefeated. Led by team MVP Brandon Olivares '14, the Junior Varsity team won the Tri-County Athletic League Championship in record-breaking fashion. Offensively, the team shattered the Junior Varsity record for most points scored in a season with 360. Defensively, the team tied the record for points allowed during a season with only 100 points in ten games.

During their remarkable season, running back Brandon Olivares scored 31 TD's (new JV record) and ran for over 1900 yards (another JV record). His tremendous success was due to the outstanding blocking of offensive linemen: Cole Rianda '14, James Meeks '14, Zack Zender '14, Ben Laycock '14, Shea Wiley '14, Alex Normil '14, and Tim Jimenez '14.

An important asset to the 10-0 season was the play of the defense. Playing behind a dominant Defensive Line (Anthony Payan '14, Zack

Chieftains are led onto the field by bagpiper Drew Barker '06

Zender '14, James Meeks '14, Ben Laycock '14, and Brian Banuelos '14), Linebacker's Terry Lee '14, Dominic Fusanotti '14, and Zack Panziera '14 only allowed 10 points per game. After wins against St. Francis, St. Joseph, and Cardinal Newman, Impact Player of the Year Chris Vargas '14 inspired a great comeback against Salinas High by throwing two touchdown passes and returning a kick-off for another score.

Moving to the slot position on offense, Chris handed the team over to freshman quarterback Marcus Cannon '15. Marcus would go 5-0 as the starting quarterback. Ryan Scarr '14 and Will Chilton '14 were the biggest weapons in the passing game. This season's undefeated performance was a great turnaround for a team that went 7-3 and finished in 3rd place in the Tri-County Athletic League as freshmen. The future looks bright for Palma Football.

The highlights from this past season include victories over rivals Salinas High School and San Benito High School, and a second place finish in T-CAL behind undefeated Alvarez. Volleyball

Junior High

The 2011 Junior High Volleyball team was made up of a determined group of individuals. With only one returning player, the odds were stacked against the relatively inexperienced Junior High Volleyball team. Following a tough 0-3 start to the season, the young men persevered through adversity to finish with enough wins for a playoff berth as the fourth seed in the year-end tournament.

The Chieftain volleyball team was led by the exceptional setting skills of 7th grade standout, Gabe Ghigliotto '17, and a big middle hitter in Zack Ralston '16 (co-MVP). The team captain and co-MVP, Matt Fusanotti '16, demonstrated incredible passing and digging skills that robbed other teams of numerous kills. The season culminated in Palma beating the first seed, Junipero Serra School, in the semifinals to move on to face Catalina in the finals. It took a determined group of young men, embodying the integrity and commitment to excellence that Palma Athletics stands for, to accomplish what Palma's Junior High Volleyball team did this year.

Cross Country

Varsity & Junior Varsity

In Varsity Cross Country news, the Palma students ran strong and fast in spite of some injuries and difficulties throughout the season. Under new leadership by second year Palma theology teacher, Stephen Valgos, Palma varsity runners finished the season with 3 wins and 3 losses. The Junior Varsity runners, also coached by Mr. Valgos, finished the season with 2 wins and 4 losses on the season. Overall, Palma finished in 4th place in TCAL and 43rd out of 65 teams at the Crystal Springs CCS meet.

Between the Varsity and Junior Varsity, the team swelled to almost 30 runners this year. The Varsity team, led by team captains Chris Chen '12 and Nathaniel Zanger '12, boasted an average three-mile race time of 17:42 at the CCS meet. Senior Chris Chen finished his senior year with a season best three-mile race time of 17:12, an improvement of almost two minutes from his best freshman year time of 19:05. Nate Zanger, not far behind, ended his senior year with a speedy 17:22 three-mile race time, an improvement of nearly two minutes from his sophomore three-mile race time of 19:17.

Varsity Cross Country

Other consistent Varsity standouts were Hunter Rehbein '13, Dominic Zanger '13, Joshua Cunanan '15, and Austin Churchill '13; all are expected to return next season. Aengus Fano '12 and Brayden Tollefson '13 also made consistent and valuable contributions to the team's success despite injuries.

When asked about this year's season, Coach Valgos said, "I couldn't have asked for a more hard-working and fun group of young men. The change in leadership was difficult for them, but they stepped up, made adjustments, ran hard and did their best. I couldn't be happier with their hard work, determination, and perseverance. The Notre Dame cross-country coaches, Mandy Lebow and Brenda Tollefson, were an invaluable resource without whom we would not have been half as successful as we were."

Stephen is already looking forward to next season and hopes to see new runners join this year's dedicated group. Palma's motto this year was taken from 1 Corinthians 9:24, "All runners run in the race but only one wins the prize. Run so as to win." Mr. Valgos would like to congratulate his runners for doing just that.

Wrestling

Varsity & Junior Varsity

It was a banner year for the Chieftain wrestling family. This talented group of young men climbed higher on the Central Coast Section ladder than any Varsity Wrestling team in Palma history, placing second in the entire Central Coast Section. Each league within the CCS sends its top qualifiers from each weight class to compete at the elite CCS tournament. In remarkable fashion, the Chieftains qualified every one of their varsity wrestlers in all fourteen weight classes, a feat only accomplished by one other school under the CCS umbrella. Qualifiers included: Hunter Rehbein '13, Adam Lucero '15, Nick Busby '12, Martin Martinez '14, Alex Garcia '15, Christian Palacios '13, Reed Worthy '13, Bart Bonfantini '13, Robert Caldwell '14, Timmy Jimenez '14, Ryan Sarmiento '12, Cole Rianda '14, Tyler Escoto '13, and Hildelv Manzur '13.

Eight Chieftains ended their season in the Top 12 in the CCS Tournament: Hunter Rehbein, Alex Garcia, Christian Palacios, Reed Worthy, Robert Caldwell, Ryan Sarmiento, Tyler Escoto and Hildelv Manzur. Tyler Escoto took home a fourth place medal, narrowly missing a state berth. Second-place CCS medalists Hunter Rehbein, Ryan Sarmiento and Hildelv Manzur each qualified for a coveted spot at the elite California State Tournament in Bakersfield.

In addition to their individual accomplishments, this tight-knit group of Chieftains also racked up a number of team trophies throughout the season. Their accomplishments included the following victories: 1st Place at the Golden Gate Invitational, 1st Place at the Apple Cider Classic, 1st Place at the Jim Root Classic, 1st Place at the El Camino Colt Classic, and Top 40 at the Sierra Nevada Classic in Reno, Nevada. Ten of the 14 Varsity Chieftain wrestlers ranked in the "Top 20" in all of CCS at season's end: Hunter Rehbein, Martin Martinez, Alex Garcia, Christian Palacios, Reed Worthy, Bart Bonfantini, Robert Caldwell, Ryan Sarmiento, Tyler Escoto and Hildelv Manzur. With only one of these ten wrestlers graduating, the 2012-2013 season looks very promising.

The Chieftain Junior Varsity Team dominated the Tri-County Athletic League and ended their season Team League Champions. They boasted an astonishing six individual league champions: Barrett Bonfantini '15, Luis Martinez '13, Greg Stefani '13, Travis Gumke '14, John Sheets '14, and Zach Zender '14. Second-place finishers included Bijan Kooroshfar '14, Cody Martinez '15, and Jack Gillott '15.

Soccer Varsity

Under the superb leadership of team captain Tim Carroll '12, the Varsity Soccer team put together a campaign that impressed the league's coaches with their tenacity and spirit. With only one returning senior, coach Scott Corner knew from the start that it would be a challenging year. Starting five juniors and four sophomores, this year's team showed moments of greatness. When the Varsity team played nationally ranked Alisal High School, the Chieftains battled to a 1-0 loss behind a fantastic defensive effort by Eddie Paz '13 in goal. Against eventual CCS qualifier Carmel High School, the Chieftains fought to a 1-0 win off a spectacular 78th minute free kick from Eduardo Munoz '13.

Though there were times of inconsistency due to the youth of the varsity team, they matured down the stretch and gained valuable varsity experience against quality opponents. They also learned some life lessons about how to play as a team at high levels of competition. Next year will be an exciting season when the varsity team returns a wealth of experienced players. Great job Chieftains!

Palma players that were recognized with team and league honors included the following:

Tim Carroll '12: Team Captain, Varsity Soccer; 1st Team All-TCAL; Monterey County All-Star Team

Eddie Paz '13: "For-the-Good-of-the-Game", Varsity Soccer

Junior Varsity

The 2011-2012 Junior Varsity Soccer team showed great improvement throughout the season, both individually and collectively. There were some incredible goals scored as well as some amazing defensive moments. The team felt the impact towards the end of the season when Eddie Paz '14, the starting goalie, was moved to the varsity team due to injuries. Coach C.C. Salmina is looking forward to seeing these young men develop into stronger student athletes in the seasons to come.

The individual awards were given out to the following players:

Junior Varsity Most Improved: Jimmy Clark '14

Junior Varsity Coaches Award: Matthew Garibay '14

Junior High

It was a challenging season for the Palma Junior High Soccer team, finishing the season with a record of 3-7-2 in the MTJAL. With only two returning starters, the team relied heavily on some dynamic 7th graders. The team's Most Valuable Player Branden Werner '17 connected with Offensive MVP Daudi London '17 for numerous goals throughout the season. Defensive MVP Kyler Crone '17, alongside the speedy Matt Smith '16 and the tenacious Andrew Luker '16, anchored the Palma defense. Gabe Rianda '16 performed valiantly as the team's goalkeeper, having no previous experience at the position. The team won with humility and lost with dignity, and Coach Nick Sterrett '04 is excited to coach the talented group that will be returning next year.

Basketball Varsity

In his eighth season as head coach, Paul Alioto led the Chieftains to a fifth Tri-County Athletic League title by finishing 11-1 in league play. The Chieftains have compiled an astounding 63-9 record in the last six years of TCAL play. This year's team faced the most difficult pre-season schedule in the last eight years; despite some early struggles, the team never lost faith in one another. A season sweep of Salinas High School highlighted league play, and a win at Mission Preparatory in San Luis Obispo was the biggest win of the non-league schedule.

Noah Allen '13, Jack Powers '13, and Jack Tardieu '13 led the team offensively. Marcus Washington '13 and Jack Burlison '15 were defensive nightmares, harassing opponents into numerous turnovers. Seniors Joe Paulo, Shivan Singh, Sam Thompson, Devin Morales, and Jay Felix were the leaders who kept the Chieftains focused on their goals all season long with their hustle and their commitment to excellence.

The varsity squad received the number one seed in the CCS Division IV Playoffs, finishing the regular season with a 16-8 overall record. This year was the seventh year in a row that the Chieftains have reached the CCS Semifinals. Jack Powers and Noah Allen were honored with First Team All-TCAL selections, while Jack Tardieu and Joe Paulo garnered Second Team honors. Noah Allen was selected as the Tri-County Athletic League MVP, as well as the MVP of Monterey County by both the Monterey Herald and the Salinas Californian newspapers.

Junior Varsity

It was a great year for the Palma Junior Varsity basketball team. They were a positive, hard-working group that had great team chemistry. The year started with coach Jerod Stewart bringing up three freshmen to fill out an eight-man roster. Following two tough losses to Archbishop Mitty High School and Bellarmine Preparatory, the team went on to win the remaining 22 games on the schedule. Their impressive streak included wins against Piedmont Hills, Santa Cruz, Soquel, Valley Christian, and St. Francis.

The Junior Varsity team finished league play with a perfect 12-0 record. Their stout defense limited their opponents to 28.75 points per game, while their outstanding offense averaged 58.0 points per game! The average margin of victory was nearly 30 points per game! Mason Miguel '14 led the team with 35 three-point field goals, and Chrystian Harrigan '15 averaged nine points per game as a freshman. The team accomplished their astounding 22-2 record without having a single player's scoring average in double digits. It was a true team effort!

Team Awards included:

- Coach's Award: Max Fiege '14
- Most Improved Player: Hans Baltizar '14
- Defensive Player of the Year: Dalton Davolis '14
- Defensive Player of the Year: Mason Miguel '14
- Offensive Player of the Year: Will Chilton '14

Hustle Award: Dominic Fusinotti '14

Most Outstanding Player of the Year: Jacob Regester '14

Freshmen

The Freshman Basketball team was led by point guards Matt Lucas, Adrian Valdez, Chris Childs, and Justin Nobida-Lagrimas. The presence of David Nunes, Dylan Antonetti, Kasey Cory, Andrew Wooler, Marques Cannon, and Adam Romero inside made the Chieftains competitive on the boards. The versatility of Cameron Crone, Devon Esquerra, Joe Coffelt, Kevin Bass, Nick Cimino, and Sebastian Camacho kept defenses on their heels. The young Chieftains finished strong, winning six of their last seven games, which included beating Salinas High School at Salinas. A strong pre-season schedule was highlighted by a victory over Bellarmine Preparatory at the end of December.

Team awards recipients included the following:

- Coach's Award: Cameron Crone
- Hustle Award: Andrew Wooler
- Most Improved: Adam Romero
- Offensive Player of the Year: Justin Nobida-Lagrimas
- Defensive Player of the Year: Devin Esquera
- Most Outstanding Player: Matt Lucas

Eighth Grade

The Palma 8th grade basketball team finished with an undefeated league record of 14-0, and an impressive overall record of 22-2. The Chieftains earned a 1st place finish in the MTJAL as a result. The only losses on the season came in two separate tournaments, the Mickey Linehan Memorial Tournament and the Evergreen Tournament, against eventual tournament champions.

The team was filled with outstanding athletes, skilled basketball players, and fierce competitors. Co-MVP Josh Keselica's electricity at point-guard, combined with co-MVP Liam McMillian's defensive presence and offensive skill, proved to be too much for most teams. In the exciting season finale against Carmel, the team battled back from a 10-point deficit at halftime to tie the game up with 20 seconds left. Defensive standouts Zach Barry and Zac Tamagni closed up all the passing lanes and allowed Josh Keselica to steal the ball from Carmel's point-guard, dribble the length of the court, and score a lay-up as the buzzer sounded! It was an outstanding finish to the season and the championship could not have been more deserved.

Seventh Grade

The Palma 7th grade basketball team developed an aggressive full-court press this season. The press proved daunting to opponents, and the team went undefeated in regular season play — a perfect 14-0! Led by Daniel Soto and Emilio Martinez, the team learned many aspects of the Palma system — one-dribble lay-ups, man-to-man defense, and systematic work on basketball fundamentals. The team excelled in competition and showed true sportsmanship to their opponents.

Randy Cory came on in mid-season to contribute to the starting five, along with Dylan Olivares, Drew Dalman, Daniel Soto, and Emilio Martinez. However, the entire team of 15 players became a dedicated, cohesive unit. They collectively came together and reached an improved level of play. The future is promising for Palma basketball! ●

UPDATE

Adolph B. Cimino will be turning 76 this coming April. "I am fortunate in so many ways. I am so very thankful for the discipleship, mentorship, and friendship of Msr Danny Lopez, retired, class of '55. I am also thankful for Br. Avendano, one of the first Palma teachers. Both of these men helped keep me in line and keep the Holy Spirit alive in my life. God bless them."

Monsignor Dan Lopez retired two years ago from a position as a pastor in a Fresno Diocese. He is currently helping out at the local parishes in the Salinas area. Dan now lives at the same house he grew up in with his dogs and cats! Dan writes, "I still love to do my Elvis impersonations at different celebrations. I recently performed at an event at Sacred Heart!"

Lurine Pelucca Larson graduated in 1957 from Palma — the third graduating class — back in the days when it was a co-ed high school. Her class was the first to go through Palma — from Grade 7 through Grade 12. Lurine and her husband have two beautiful daughters. Lurine was the first paid secretary at Palma — she was hired in June 1959 after she graduated from Hartnell Jr. College. Before that time, mothers of students volunteered in the business office. Lurine has another first in the job category. When her family moved to the San Jose area, she volunteered as a secretary at Holy Family Parish. She worked in both the Parish Office as well as in the Catechetical Office. After a few months, she was offered the position as Parish Secretary and Catechetical Secretary — dividing her time between the 2 offices. She retired from Holy Family on April 1, 2005. Lurine still "works" at Holy Family one day a week, but as a volunteer. Lurine adds, "I enjoy reading about our Palma Alumni. The ladies from my graduating class have a luncheon reunion the last Saturday of October at a local restaurant in Salinas. It is a wonderful time to reacquaint with one another and reminisce about our days at Palma."

westerly direction back to Australia. The trip included 44 ports of call in some very exotic countries — from Malaysia on to the Suez Canal, into the Mediterranean, on up to Norway and the U.K., through the Panama Canal, up the Mexican coastline to Los Angeles, then to Hawaii, and down through the South Pacific back to Sydney. We hope to return to some of the amazing places we visited. Back home, Jim manages the Carmel Valley Art Association Gallery, and I maintain our 10-acre property.

Ryan Angle has been living down on the Central Coast of California in Arroyo Grande for close to 20 years now with his beautiful wife Kacey of 17+ years. Ryan and Kacey have 3 children, Hannah (14), Patrick (13) and Connor (10). Ryan is the chief operating officer of LR Baggs Corp., which is a growing company that manufactures acoustic guitar pickups and preamps. Basically, any artist who plays acoustic guitar on stage could be using one of their products. His company works with artists such as James Taylor, Tom Petty, Sugarland, Coldplay, and many others. Ryan says, "I look back fondly on my days at Palma High School when I was playing three sports a year and trying to keep on top of my studies at the same time. I now realize that is where I first started building a foundation of discipline, focus and organization that has helped me throughout my college years and into my adult work and family life." Ryan is currently the president of a local youth basketball recreational league that has close to 1,000 kids participating. He also coaches his three kids in numerous sports during the year and is on the board of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA). Needless to say, he is "as busy as ever and enjoying every minute of it." Ryan still follows Palma sports and enjoys getting a chance to see the current teams play when they come down to Arroyo Grande. Ryan comments, "It is nice to see the 'Palma' tradition of winning and sportsmanship being carried on by coaches who are friends or former classmates." Ryan adds, "I have been blessed with a wife who, although she thinks I am nuts at times and is probably right, is amazingly supportive and encouraging of our hectic life. There was not a day in high school or college that I did not have some sort of practice after school and now my kids are on a very similar path. Our kids are amazingly lucky also to have a huge extended family here in our area. I have 32 nieces and nephews under the age of 17 who all live in Arroyo Grande and who we get to see on a regular basis. So, there is never a dull moment in the Angle house and I would not have it any other way."
